

What bonds two people together, but only touches one.